

Any HDTV encryption system that renders current equipment inoperable would be a huge harm to those who have already invested in HDTV equipment.

The courts have held the citizen has a right to record copy written material for the purpose "time shift" viewing, I would expect any FCC rule regarding HDTV to honor this premise.